tion of the treaty and the League of Nations covenant. Immediately following his address to Congress, the President will commence a country-wide tour, presenting the facts to the people.

The American peace delegates are convinced that the ex-Kaiser will never be brought to trial. This clause was inserted at an insistent demand from British sources.

Can't Be Reached By Law.
Americans here think that the machinery for the proposed trial will be gone through with and an international tribunal actually formed, but it is believed that such a body would hold action in abeyance in view of the plea raised on the ex-Kaiser's behalf that there is no crime under international law as he is charged with.

HAYS IS UNLIKELY TO BE COMPLETELY SUCCESSFUL IN GETTING LEAGUE UNITY

While Will M. Hays, Republican national chairman, today continued his efforts here to bring unity and peace into the ranks of Senate League of Nations opponents, indications developed that his task is unlikely to be completely successful.

Senator Borah, for instance, made it plain today that he cannot be satisfied with any plan which he does not

Ocean Is Very Dusty, Say Marines Who Have To Swab Dirty Decks

NEW YORK, June 27.—Is the ocean dusty? Marines aboard the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, now in port here, will say it is.

"The salt in the air crystallizes on the decks and bulkheads," Corp. William H. Allen explained to a reporter. "It is then ground underfoot and becomes dusty, so although we throw overboard a couple of cans of dust, there is the same amount the next time we sweep down."

regard as meeting the issue of Americanism against internationalism without equivocation. If Hays comes out for a program of effective amendment, Borah and those who with him are against any league, may be expected to support that program, it was learned. With them, however, the battle is still to the bitter end, though some of them are beginning to realize, they admitted today, that a league in some form is inevitable.

Intimations were allowed to seep out from Republican circles today that fifty-one votes have been pledged against article 10 of the league covenant. Inasmuch as at least two Republicans, McNary and McCumber, have already announced they will vote for article 10 as it stands, the "pledged" votes must include at least four Democrats.

Administration forces at once said there are only two Democrats at all likely to vote even for amendments—Reed and Gore.

From cities which have been mentioned as probable stopping places in President Wilson's projected tour, invitations are coming in to Borah and Johnson, they said today, to appear in answer to the President's arguments.

Jonathan Bourne, Jr., head of the Republican publicity bureau, today issued a statement assailing President Wilson on the ground that he had set his will up against that of enough Senators to defeat the peace treaty.

3 MORE ROBBERIES AWAIT SOLUTION

The drug store at Fourteenth street and Thomas circle, was entered last night by thieves who forced a side window and stole $30 from the cash register.

The police have been ordered to look out for an unidentified colored woman who early this morning robbed Dominic Naples, a taxi driver, 936 New York avenue northwest, of $20 in bills. Naples told the police he was robbed during the trip from Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue to North Capitol and K streets. Police have a description of the woman.

Mrs. Anna Ward yesterday told the police that a young white man came to the building at 1010 F street northwest, saying he wanted to rent a room. Mrs. Ward showed him a room and left him for a few minutes to answer the door. When she returned she discovered that $10 had been stolen from her pocketbook and the man had disappeared.

LIKES HER OLD NOSE BEST.
CHICAGO, June 27.—Her "bridge of sighs"—Miss Tracy Sambroski had her nose remodeled and now she uses the surgeon because he won't change it back.

ANOTHER HUMAN ONELET.
DALLAS, Tex., June 27.—S. G. Scott, civil war veteran, disputes the world's championship claim of a Pennsylvanian who ate forty-two eggs at one sitting. Scott says during the war he ate 47 and was still hungry.

Pensions For Clerks Soon to Be Reported Favorably to Senate

Indorsed by Cabinet officials, the District Commissioners, representatives of trade unions, and others, the Sterling bill for the retirement and pensioning of Federal employees will be reported favorably to the Senate in the near future from the Committee on Civil Service and Retirement. Senator Sterling, chairman of the committee, decided definitely today to close hearing on the bill. The committee will begin early next week the task of framing a new measure.

"Never before has the time been so opportune for the passage of retirement legislation as it is now," said Senator Sterling. "The testimony of witnesses has convinced me more than ever of the urgent need of such a law."

When the bill is reported to the Senate, it undoubtedly will carry out the recommendations of Commissioner Brownlow, extending its full benefits to employees of the District government as well as to Federal employees. The Sterling bill will affect about 1,800 District employees. Mr. Brownlow has told the committee, with about eighty employees eligible for immediate retirement.

Officials Favor Pensions.
Secretary of the Treasury Glass, former Secretary McAdoo, Secretary of Labor Wilson, and Acting Secretary of State Frank Polk all have come out strongly in support of the proposed legislation. "I am strongly in favor of the adoption of some practical plan for retirement of civil service employees," said Mr. Polk, "as a measure greatly in the interest of efficiency and one which would in the end be economically advantageous. It is my belief that this is one thing that would help to bring about a much needed improvement in the Government service, not only by making suitable provision for worthy men and women who have devoted their best years to the service of the Government at a very modest rate of compensation, but also by offering inducements to persons of ability to devote their lives to the service of the Government, with the assurance that when their usefulness is at an end the Government will provide an annuity for the period after their earning capacity shall have ceased."

An Inhuman System.
Secretary of Labor Wilson declared that in view of the fact that other governments, as well as many private corporations in this country, had adopted a system of pensions, "Congress would do well, in my judgment, to lose no time in enacting an adequate civil service retirement law."

"Entirely apart from the humanitarian and justice involved," said Mr. Wilson, "it would seem to me high time to recognize the fact that the executive departments have a pension roll whether they like it or not, and that it is the most expensive, cumbersome and in many ways an inhuman sort of pension system. What I refer to is to the water-logged payroll which in all essentials produces a pension system without retirement."

"In other words, aged and decrepit employees who have been worn out in the Government service are retained on the payroll at a salary which is considerably higher, in most cases, than would provide an adequate pension. These people are not discharged, cannot and will not be discharged by the heads of departments, for humane reasons."

Must Be At Desks.
"On the other hand, they must be at their desks each day for seven hours in order to receive the salary at which they are listed. This is not only a physical handicap—it is a useless and inhuman one. On the other hand, it has a demoralizing effect on the other employees, particularly those who, going in at the entrance grade, are perhaps getting a salary for real work."

much less than the pensioners are getting. If the payrolls could be relieved of this waterlogging, the Government could pay the entire cost of a reasonable system such as is outlined in your bill and save money.

"You will see from this that I do not look upon the retirement of a civil employee as a charity measure. All of the great corporations do it as a business proposition. Some of these corporations and some foreign governments have a contributory system, and some pay the amount outright from the treasury. I sincerely trust that Congress will enact at this session some sort of civil service retirement law."

Secretary Glass submitted this letter: "I am of the opinion that an efficient service is practically unobtainable without a method of honorably and justly retiring persons whose efficiency because of age or physical or mental incapacity is seriously impaired. Any extension and successful effort to improve the administrative operations of this large department is very heavily handicapped. The efficiency of the department is retarded for want of a retirement law. I believe that the enactment of legislation providing for supernumerary or disabled employees of the civil service in this department would result in economy and increased efficiency in the transaction of public business. It would be a measure of benefit to the Government and of justice to the employees who faithfully have devoted their talents and the best years of their lives to the interests of the Government."

McAdoo Backs Plan.
Mr. Glass quoted former Secretary McAdoo as follows:

"The necessity for effective action of some character along this line has been accentuated during this period of war. It would seem to me not only a measure of justice to faithful public servants who have devoted their lives and talents to the Government, but it would also be in the interest of economy and increased efficiency in the administration of the public business."

Others who appeared before the committee were Robert F. Enklint, first vice president of Federal Employees' Union, No. 89; Gilbert Hyatt, president of the National Federation of Postal Clerks; W. M. Collins, industrial secretary of the Railway Mail Association; N. P. Alfass, president of District No. 44, International Association of Machinists; and Paul F. Myers, chief clerk of the Treasury Department.

SOCIALIZATION BILLS BEHIND IN N. DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D., June 27.—Tabulation of yesterday's referendum vote on so-called socialization bills, sponsored by the National Non-Partisan League, showed opponents of the bills to be leading today by a small margin.

Six counties returned a vote of approximately 1,000 against the bills to 1,200 in favor of them. Non-Partisan League leaders predicted the country vote would offset this lead.

The measures provide for a one-third tax commission, State owned banks, and judicial reorganizing.

Sure To Carry, Says Baer.
Representative J. M. Baer, North Dakota, Non-Partisan League congressman, today wired here that all referred State constitutional amendments would carry by 15,000.

EARL DEAR HANGED; LONG WAS IMMUNE

CHICAGO, June 27.—Earl Dear, long known as the "Immune" because of the failure of the authorities to convict him after many arrests, met death on the gallows here today for the murder of Rudolph Wolfe, a chauffeur, who surprised him attempting to steal an automobile.

Dear made desperate efforts to save himself from the gallows. His appeals were carried through the State courts to the United States Supreme Court, the State pardon board, and to Governor Lowden. His final appeal was refused by the pardon board a few hours before he was hanged.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER FOR JOYRIDE WITH DEATH
Edward Taylor, colored, was convicted yesterday by a jury in Criminal Court No. 2, Justice Siddons presiding, of manslaughter in connection with the death of Nicholas Young, also colored, while joyriding September 28 last.

The evidence showed that Taylor, who was a chauffeur in the quarter-master's department, got possession of a $7,000 automobile belonging to the War Department, and with Young and two women companions, started out to have a good time.

It was testified that Taylor was intoxicated and did not attend to the steering gear as he should have done. Turning into Pennsylvania avenue northwest, from Twenty-second street, he struck a pole, demolishing the machine and throwing Young out. The latter died October 8 from the injuries.

REVOLUTION AGAINST SOVIET IN BUDAPEST IS CRUSHED, SAYS REPORT

COPENHAGEN, June 27.—A counter-revolutionary movement against the Hungarian soviet republic in Budapest has been suppressed, according to dispatches received here today.

In addition to street fighting, river monitors bombarded soviet headquarters Tuesday night. Crowds of spectators swarmed the banks of the Danube during the bombardment, cheering and waving flags and handkerchiefs.

The revolt was put down when the counter-revolutionary leaders were captured, it was said.

The latest advice said that order had been restored and that soviet armed guards were patrolling the streets.
